

EN. CATLIN ON THE STUMP.

Brooklyn Voters to Elect Joseph C. Hendrix.

Democratic Meetings Scheduled for This Evening.

Joseph C. Catlin, who declined the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Third Congressional District, Brooklyn, on account of being a retired officer of the army, has been the stump for Cleveland and Stevenson.

He addressed a big meeting at the Jones Jefferson Building last night and secured a sweeping victory for the entire Democratic ticket.

Mr. Catlin regretted that he had been unable to accept the Congressional nomination, and asked his friends to work with the same vigor for Joseph C. Hendrix as they would for him.

Joseph C. Catlin there was an army of Democratic orators in Brooklyn last night, and the party enthusiasm in the last days of the campaign to fighting pitch.

Mr. Catlin addressed a meeting at the Criterion Theatre and created a sensation when, referring to the defeat of Cleveland four years ago, he said:

"You citizens of Kings County, know how we were defeated, and I am not afraid to say it right here."

Democratic mass-meetings will be held at following places in Brooklyn this evening: St. Paul's Ward, in Co-operative Hall, at the corner of Madison street and Broadway; St. Paul's Ward, in Co-operative Hall, at the corner of Madison street and Broadway; St. Paul's Ward, in Co-operative Hall, at the corner of Madison street and Broadway.

GREEKS WITH COUNTERFEITS.

Treasury Agent Brooks Concludes that They Are Victims.

The Six Chestnut Vendors to Go Free.

Six prisoners, all young and innocent looking, were taken before Special Treasury Agent Brooks, in the Federal Building, this morning, and put through an examination. They were suspected of being concerned in the unloading in this city of bundles of counterfeit $5 and $10 bills.

The sextette was composed of Greeks varying in age from nineteen to twenty-seven years. They answered to the names: Zacharia Tompach, Daniel Hildner, John Guiller, Peter Lamphor, Elias Hildner and George Cottegeorg.

The prisoners are all chestnut wenders and did business in the vicinity of Third Avenue and Thirtieth street. They occupied rooms at 422 East Thirtieth street, next to the grocery store of Mrs. Caroline Salina Perry, a pretty English woman, who acted as broker and general guardian for the men.

According to the story told by Mrs. Perry, the chestnut wenders entered her store and bought a pound of coffee, paying for it in small change.

In his hand he held a $5 bill. Mrs. Perry asked to see the bill, which she saw at a glance was counterfeit, and so informed the chestnut wenders.

"No, no," was the reply. "We get him for cents—chestnuts. Good money. All right."

Mrs. Perry tried to persuade her customer that the bill was counterfeit, she says, and finally succeeded.

A few minutes later the other five men came into the store in a great rush and threw eight five dollar bills, all counterfeit, and evidently made from the same plate as Zacharia's, on the counter and asked if they were also counterfeit.

During the excitement Policeman Morris, of the Fourteenth Precinct, entered the store and asked if they were counterfeit.

The chestnut wenders reported the name to Capt. Doherity, who, in company with Detective Morris, visited the headquarters of the Greeks, secured the bills and placed the men under arrest. One of them claimed to own three of the bills and three of the others claimed two each.

The prisoners were unable to talk but they all claimed that they were innocent. They all claimed that they were innocent. They all claimed that they were innocent.

Mrs. Perry, although not solicited to do so, appeared before Treasury Agent Brooks this morning and made a statement as to the character of the men, who she said they were honest, industrious and sober, neither smokers nor chewers of tobacco, and that they frequently made from $25 to $30 per day, for which she gave them bills in exchange.

The men had been in her house twelve months, and she had never heard of any of them committing a dishonest act.

Chief Brooks says the bills are of the same batch made by the gang arrested in Erie street, and that they were made by the same person.

The woman who circulated the spurious money then was recently released and the counterfeit bills in circulation. It is thought they may be traced to her.

Mr. Brooks further concluded that the six Greeks were victims and not the criminals, but he decided to hold them until the afternoon, so that they can identify either Michael Calico or Jimmy Scutella, the two Italians arrested last Friday and upon whom the counterfeit bills, the chestnut wenders, counterparty of those taken from the Greeks.

Calico and Scutella were arraigned at 3 o'clock this morning and were held in one by one, but some of them identified the men as the persons who gave them the bad money. The chestnut wenders were held until Monday at 10 A. M., and the Greeks were discharged.

FOUGHT FOR A GIRL'S LOVE.

She Ignored Both Victor and Vanquished.

Students of the Twenty-second Ward,oklyn, are talking today about the fracas between "Flo" Stewart and "Mick" Meyers, who were both of respectable and well-to-do families.

Victor tried to fight a gentleman with under-venous rules. Wednesday night, in the Assembly building, Woodgewood a battle was said to be all on account of a man, a very young and very pretty one, of the name of "Flo" Stewart.

Victor was knocked out in five rounds, and was given the $3.50 purse, but the girl was not hurt. She was heard of the fight, and the fighters were badly punished.
